

"Everyone Said No": Biometrics, HIV and Human Rights

A Kenya Case Study

Co-published by KELIN and the Key Population Consortium, this case study documents how a coalition of key-population-led groups successfully challenged the planned use of biometric data in a national HIV study, citing serious risks to the safety, privacy and rights of criminalised communities.